Rev. Geo. P. Woollcombe, M.A. (Oxon.)
Head Master

The Royal Military College of Canada

THERE are few national institutions of more value and interest to the country than the Royal Military College of Canada. Notwithstanding this, its object and the work it is accomplishing are not sufficiently understood by the general public.

The College is a Government Institution, designed primarily for the purpose of giving instruction in all branches of military science to cadets and officers of the Canadian Militia. In fact, it corresponds to Woolwich and Sandhurst.

The Commandant and military instructors are all officers on the active list of the Imperial Army, lent for the purpose, and there is in addition a complete staff of professors for the civil subjects which form such an important part of the College course. Medical attendance is also provided.

Whilst the College is organized on a strictly military basis, the cadets receive a practical and scientific training in subjects essential to a sound modern education.

The course includes a thorough grounding in Mathematics, Civil Engineering, Surveying, Physics, Chemistry, French and English.

The strict discipline maintained at the College is one of the most valuable features of the course, and in addition, the constant practice of gymnastics, drill and outdoor exercises of all kinds secures health and excellent physical condition.

Commissions in all branches of the Imperial Service and Canadian Permanent Force are offered annually.

The diploma of graduation is considered by the authorities conducting the examination for Dominion Land Surveyor to be equivalent to a university degree, and by the regulations of the Law Society of Ontario, it obtains the same exemptions as a B.A. degree.

The length of the course is three years, in three terms of 9½ months each.

The total cost of the course, including board, uniform, instructional material, and all extras, is about $800.

The annual competitive examination for admission to the College takes place in May of each year, at the headquarters of the several military districts.

For full particulars regarding this examination and for any other information, application should be made to the Secretary of the Military Council, Ottawa, Ont.; or to the Commandant, Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont.

Synopsis of Canadian North-West Land Regulations

Any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price, $3.00 per acre.

Duties.—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3.00 per acre.

Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

10. "Canadian Life in Town and Country" (together with Mr. L. J. Burpee, F.R.S.C., London, 1905); besides various brochures and newspaper and magazine articles upon a variety of subjects.

In 1862 Dr. Morgan established "The Canadian Parliamentary Companion," which he edited and published annually up to 1876; and, in 1878, "The Dominion Annual Register and Review," which he likewise edited and published, annually, up to 1887.

"More general contributions to history are the works of the Abbé Faillon, of Mr. Parkman, of Dr. Scadding, of the Abbé Laverdière, of Sir J. M. Le Moine, of Judge Haliburton, of Mr. Fennings Taylor, of Dr. Miles, of the Abbé Casgrain, of Col. Gray, of Mr. Louis Turcotte, of Mr. Charles Lindsey, of Dr. George Stewart, and of Dr. H. J. Morgan. We might add very largely to this list, which serves rather to show the variety of ways in which historical talent may be advantageously occupied than to sum up what has been accomplished. Of all these writers there is none who is more deserving of the gratitude of his fellow-citizens than the last-mentioned. Hardly a day passes, indeed, in which we, as journalists, do not refer for information to some of Dr. Morgan's various stores of information, and rarely do we refer to them in vain."—Montreal Gazette.

"If Dr. Morgan had never discharged any other service for his fellow-countrymen than the preparation of this great work of biography, he would have been entitled to no slight share of their gratitude."—Toronto Globe.

"Dr. Morgan is our Vapereau and our Sidney Lee. His 'Men and Women of the Time' is a work of remarkable labor, erudition and research. It is a joy to read his pages, so free from the slightest prejudice, showing in every line an openness of mind, a sincerity and an elevation of view which put fanaticism to shame."—La Presse.

"A serviceable book of reference both in England and Canada. The author, Dr. H. J. Morgan, has long been known as an experienced and capable chronicler of lives and events, and probably no man in the Dominion has done more than he has in the departments of biography and bibliography. His 'Celebrated Canadians' appeared more than a quarter of a century ago."—Literature (London).

"We all think it is high time that some substantial acknowledgment were made to Dr. Morgan for the eminent services he is rendering to the Dominion."—Col. S. B. Steele, C.B., Winnipeg.

"A veteran writer whose pen has for more than half a century maintained the perpetuation and strengthening of Imperial ties as the only loyal, wise and sane course for all concerned."—Dr. John Reade, Montreal.

PREFACE.

THE first edition of "Canadian Men and Women of the Time" appeared in 1898. It comprised a volume of 1,118 pages, royal octavo, and included, approximately, 2,891 sketches of living characters. Of these over 900, or almost 33 per cent., have since died.

The volume met with a warm reception and was more than ordinarily successful. Its circulation was large, and extended to the remotest corners of the world. It was and is to be found in all the principal public libraries of Europe, Asia and America, as well as in a great many private collections. It was largely used by the newspaper press, mostly, however, without acknowledgment, a species of plagiarism into which a portion of the Fourth Estate seems to have fallen, in the present day, without any apparent sense of shame.

Various works, modelled upon the same lines as the present one, have since been started in Canada, but none of them have answered the public expectation—hence a demand has arisen for a second edition of "Canadian Men and Women of the Time," to meet which the present volume has been prepared. Like its predecessor, the Editor trusts that it may be found accurate, trustworthy, and up-to-date. It is certainly as complete, as regards the number of characters represented, as well as the facts and information touching them, as circumstances have permitted. If any name of importance has been omitted, the fault, upon examination, will be found not to rest with the Editor, but with someone more directly concerned.

The volume now submitted will be found to contain a greater number of names than the previous one, some 7,900 sketches being included within its folds. Of these some have died while the book was being published, but any such occurrences, with other unforeseen changes, will be found to be duly recorded in their proper place.

A second volume, embracing portraits of the persons represented herein, will appear just as soon as all the portraits have been collected for the purpose.

The Editor has been indebted to many persons for various courtesies and other assistance received during the preparation of the book. A list of these ladies and gentlemen is subjoined, and to one and all he tenders his hearty thanks. His acknowledgments are especially due to his younger son, Mr. Hamilton Richards Morgan, who, throughout, has been of material assistance in revising the proof sheets and otherwise rendering important service.

The full list of those to whom we have been indebted is as follows, the names being given in alphabetical order:

Adam, Graeme Mercer, author.

S. late Jas. and Margt. (Wishart) A., Lasswade, Midlothian, Scot.; b. Loanhead, Scot., May 25, 1839; e. Edinburgh; cradled among books; at 19 was at the head of the retail branch of one of the oldest Scottish publishing houses; in 1858 came to Can. as mangr. of the Can. book-house of Rev. Dr. Cunningham Geikie, and, 2 yrs. afterwards, succeeded to the business, in partnership with Mr. Rollo, the firm afterwards being re-formed and known as Adam, Stevenson & Co., booksellers and publishers, Toronto, which continued in existence for many yrs.; in 1876, in alliance with late John Lovell, Montreal, opened a publishing house in N. Y. as an outlet for literature manufactured by Mr. L.'s sons, at Rouse's Point, a venture which, although not barren of results, was not immediately successful: it subsequently developed into the U. S. Book Co.; returning to Toronto, 1878, entd. on an active literary career; his firm had previously published the Brit. Am. Mag., to which he had contributed reviews of books; and from 1869 to 1872 he had written almost the whole of each number of the Can. Bookseller, an organ of the book and publishing interests of Can.; in 1872, in co-operation with Prof. Goldwin Smith and others, he founded the Can. Monthly, of which he was sole ed. from 1879 to its decease, 1883; in 1879 he also founded the Can. Educational Monthly, of which he was ed. for over 5 yrs.; was likewise for several yrs. office ed. and business mangr. of The Bystander, and, in connection with this duty, served as secy. and literary asst. to Prof. Goldwin Smith; when the Week was started he became one of its staff of writers, contributing also to the Nation, the Globe, the Mail, and other journals published then and subsequently at Toronto; he found time, as well, for other forms of authorship; in 1883 he ed. a series of sch. reading books, in 5 volumes, known as "The Royal Can. Readers"; subsequently he ed. an edition of Macaulay's "Essay on Warren Hastings," and published, in association with J. W. Connor, the "Can. High Sch. Word Book," and, in association with W. J. Robertson (q.v.), a "Sch. History of Eng. and Can."; in 1885 he published "The Can. North-West; Its History and Its Troubles," and, in 1886, in conjunction with Miss Wetherald (q.v.), an historical romance entitled "An Algonquin Maiden"; among other works from his pen have been: "An Outline History of Can. Literature"; a volume summarizing the work in Equatorial Africa of Sir H. M. Stanley; a series of books of a topographical and descriptive character on Can.; "Can. from Sea to Sea," a tourist's handbook; "Toronto Old and New"; a revised ed. of Collins' "Life of Sir John Macdonald"; a "Hand-book on Commercial Union," and, in conjunction with the late Geo. Dickson, a "History of Upper Can. College"; was also a contributor to "Picturesque Can.," ed. by the late Principal Grant; on leaving for the U. S., 1892, was presented with an address and purse by Can. literary men and publishers, in recognition of his important work; becoming a resident of N. Y., he remained there for 4 yrs., being chiefly connected with the U. S. Book Co. as reader and literary adviser; otherwise he performed a large share of labour, not only as a reviewer, memoir writer and general contributor in mags. and critical journals, but in the way of compilations and original authorship; in 1896 he removed to Chicago to become ed. of Self-Culture, a new mag., which he subsequently accompanied to Akron, O., on its removal thither; after 6 yrs., having edited 9 vols. of the periodical, his connection with it ceased on a change of publishers, and he again took up his residence in N. Y., where he has continued to reside, being engaged in editorial and general lit. work for the chief Eastern publishing houses; of separate works he has written a life of Genl. R. E. Lee and one of Peter the Great, and prepared for John Lovell & Sons, Montreal, a new ed. of "The Dom. of Can. Gazetteer"; a graduate of the Royal Mil. Sch., Toronto, holding a 1st class cert., he served for many yrs. in the Queen's Own Rifles, Toronto, and commanded a co. at Ridgeway during the first Fenian raids (med.); an Ang.; m., 1st, 1863, Jane Beazley (d. 1884), 2nd d. late John Gibson, ed. Literary Garland, Montreal; 2ndly, 1891, Frances Isabel, 4th d. late Fredk. B. Winfield, Ont., Feb. 15, 1866; a Norseman by descent; m., Feb., 1906, Miss Madonna Niles; studied art under Wm. Chase, Edwin Elwell and Geo. Inness, of N. Y.; one of his pictures, "The Day is Done," received much favourable notice at an exhn. of the Ont. Soc. of Artists, 1890; another, "The Fisherman's Child," was given the place of honour in the Biennial Exhn. of the Royal Can. Acad., 1893; and still another, "Ripe Corn Time," was purchased by the Ont. Govt. to hang in the Parlt. Buildings, Toronto, 1896; afterwards attracted the attention of Elbert Hubbard, who was greatly impressed by his originality in atmospheric effects, and persuaded him to throw in his lot with the Roycroft community at East Aurora, N. Y.; separating from them spent 3 yrs. painting the ruins of the old Spanish missions in Southern Cal.; returned to Can., Sept., 1907; among the best known of his works, in addition to those above mentioned, are "Cradled in the Net" (shown at the Chicago World's Fair), "The House in the Clearing," "Gleam in the Woodlands," "The Woodcutters," "The Glow in the Woodland," "Passing Showers," and "The Coming Storm"; is also a writer of short stories for the periodical press.—175 St. Helen Ave., Toronto.

"His distinguishing traits are his feeling for colour and his handling of the problems of light and air. His composition is always simple and effective; his sense of unity and harmony is never-failing; and his values are well understood. Many of his paintings, like Whistler's, are experiments in elusive lights and forms and colours, for he is akin in spirit to that wizard, who studied the outdoor world with unflagging love, and yet felt that 'to take nature as she is, is like telling the player to sit on the piano.' There are suggestions in his earlier work of Millet; often he recalls to you the solidity of Rousseau, the air-filled skies of Constable, the mystery of Coret. There is, however, no real resemblance to any other than himself; his style is an amalgam absolutely his own."—Brush and Pencil, Chicago.

Allan, Miss Maud, dancer.

B. Toronto; at 4 yrs. of age removed to San Francisco, where her father became a naturalized Am. citizen; took a scholarship at the Cogswell Poly. Coll., San Francisco; commenced studying the piano at age of 5, and made her first appearance as a pianist at 12; soon afterwards went to Europe to continue her studies; spent 5 yrs. at the Berlin Royal Acad. High Sch. of Music, and took the highest diploma for piano-playing; later, abandoned her intention of becoming a professional musician, deciding to become a dancer instead, her idea being to represent music by dancing; after much fresh study, she made her first appearance as a dancer before an invited audience at the Conser. of Music, Vienna, in 1902; she was highly complimented by the press; her first public appearance took place at the Theatre Mollère, Brussels, and she subsequently performed at Berlin, Buda Pesth, Hamburg and Paris, at all of which places she aroused much enthusiasm; at London, where she appeared in "The Vision of Salome," early in 1908, she became the rage, and had the honour of dancing before the late King and the present Queen Mother (q.v.); subsequently she successfully appeared in N. Y.; has written and published her life; "is proud to claim Can. as her country."—Care Canadian Office, London, Eng.

"As Salome she has brought pose dancing to perfection. Her costume gives a luxurious impression of Oriental gorgeousness. Her figure is as symmetrical as Canova's Venus. Above her slender waist it seems to be unconcealed except for jewelled trappings. Her feet, which are not too small but finely modelled, are bare and she gets expression even into her pink toes. She impresses her spectators by the power of her representation and by the varied intensities of her facile expression, and, best of all, she does not appeal to the baser passions."—N. Y. World.

Beardsley, Major John Davis, Am. ry. service.

U. E. L. descent; great-great-grands. Rev. John D. (Epis.), apptd. chaplain Loyal Am. Regt., commanded by Col. Beverley Robinson, during Am. Revolutionary War, and at the peace retired on half-pay, settling in N. B., where he d. 1810; his s., John D. B., settled at Woodstock, N.B., and d. there, 1852; b. Woodstock, N.B., Jan. 1, 1837; lived there until he was 13 or 14, when his family removed to Grand Falls, in that province; there he engd. in mercantile and lumbering business; was likewise a capt. in the local militia; an unsuccessful candidate for Victoria (N.B. Assembly), 1861, and became a Freemason; at the outbreak of the Am. Civil War, 1861, was the owner of a large manufacturing lumber mill, on the St. John River, employing nearly 200 men; inspired by a spirit of adventure, he left his business with his partner, and followed by 70 of his men, crossed the boundary line and enlisted in the Maine (U. S.) Volunteers, being joined after doing so by Geo. W. West, of Fort Kent, with 30 men; these men were organized at Portland as Co. D. of the Tenth Maine Volunteers and mustered into the service of the U. S., West being apptd. capt. and B. first lieut, thereof; the regt. going south, was first stationed at Patterson Park, Baltimore; the headquarters were then moved to Fort Dix, on the Baltimore & Ohio Ry., and the regt. was employed to guard the railroad from Baltimore to Harper's Ferry; later the headquarters were moved to Harper's Ferry; June 23, 1862, the regt. was moved to Winchester, Va., and on June 25 it participated in the Battle of Winchester, in which the federal forces under Gen. Banks were defeated by the Confederates, under Gen. "Stonewall" Jackson; the 10th Maine Regt. covered the federal retreat, passing through Winchester about 10 a.m., and were under artillery fire constantly from that time until they arrived at Martinsburg, a distance of 22 miles; the retreat was continued to the Potomac River that afternoon, making a march of 42 miles, the regt. losing during the day about 90 men from artillery in killed, wounded, and prisoners; the army returned to Virginia almost immediately, and was moved up the Shenandoah Valley, and by way of Front Royal to Culpepper, Va., where Gen. Banks established his headquarters, B. being with his regt. throughout; Aug. 8, 1862, Banks moved his centre south from Culpepper to Cedar Mountain, the 10th Maine being in advance; on the following day the regt. particlpated in one of the most desperate and bloody battles of the war, the numbers engaged being considered; during the early part of the day it was an artillery fight, with small loss on either side; about 4 in the afternoon the 10th Maine became engaged with the Confederate infantry; the conflict was short, not more than 20 minutes, yet in that time Co. D., commanded by Capt. B., lost 10 men shot dead and 22 wounded, out of a total of 45; on the evening of Aug. 9, B. was taken prisoner, on the picket line, and was sent to Richmond, where he was confined a prisoner of war in Libby prison; after 3 months he was exchanged and sent to Camp Parole, Annapolis, Md.; he joined his regt. as it was crossing the Potomac River, near Harper's Ferry; in the early part of 1863, Co. D., with two other co.'s of the 10th Maine, having been formed into a batt. and attached to the headquarters of the 10th Army Corps, under Genl. Slocum, B., as senior offr. of the batt., commanded it at headquarters; was present with it at Chancellorsville, May 1, 2, and 3, and at the Battle of Gettysburg, July 2, 3, and 4, 1863; in the fall of that year went with his corps to Tenn., to reinforce Rosencranz, who had been defeated at Chickamauga and driven into Chattanooga by Genl. Bragg; during the winter of 1863-4 B. commanded his batt. at Shelbyville, Tenn.; from this point his command was transferred to the 29th Maine, then serving in the 19th Corps (Emery's), joining it at Morganza, La., Mississippi River; soon afterwards they were moved to New Orleans, and were sent by sea, under sealed orders, ultimately to Fortress Monroe, to reinforce Grant's army of the Potomac; on reaching there, however, their destination was changed to Washington, where they landed, within hearing of the Confederate guns under Early, on the other side of the city; having marched across the city they joined the forces close in under the walls; Early's troops fell back and finally retreated up the Potomac River and south through the Shenandoah Valley; B.'s corps then passed under Genl. Sheridan's command, and took part in the Valley campaign under that commander, which finally resulted in the entire destruction of Early's army; promoted major in the 109th Regt. Infantry, U.S.C. troops, he was mustered into the service of the U. S. as such Sept. 23, 1864; ordered from its location in Ky. to the army of the Potomac, it took position on the north side of the James River, in front of Confederate Fort Harrison, and participated in the siege of Richmond; Mch., 1865, B., having conceived the idea of raising a regt. of sharpshooters, to be armed with Spencer rifles, then coming into use, and being strongly supported in his application to the War Office by Genl. Slocum, then commanding the left wing of Howard's army, tendered his resignation and was honourably discharged from the army, in order that he might be free to carry out his intention, but before he could give effect to it, Grant broke the Confederate lines at Petersburg, and the collapse of the Confederacy followed; Apl., 1897, was apptd. by Gov. J. R. Bodwell of Maine a commr. for purchasing and improving land and erecting monuments thereon, in commemoration of the soldiers from Maine who fell at Gettysburg; after the war B. went into business at Richmond, Va., where he continued until 1873, removing thence to Cairo, W. Va., where he purchased a large tract of timber land; in 1878 he went to Arkansas, where he built a narrow-gauge railroad from Hope to Washington, Ark.; in 1882 he changed the gauge of this road and extended it to Nashville, a distance of about 25½ miles; it is known as the Arkansas & Louisiana Railroad; in 1886 he sold the road to Jay Gould and, in 1887, began the construction of another railroad from Magnolia, Ark., to Natchitoches, La., a distance of 115 miles; this road, known as the Louisiana and Northwest Railroad, he sold to a St. Louis syndicate, in 1905; following this, he built an electric system, comprising a street railroad of 6½ miles, a light and power plant, an ice plant, and an amusement park, at Mineral Wells, Texas, which he still owns; m. Blake, Hon. Edward, lawyer; statesman.

E. s. late Hon. William Hume B., Chancellor of U.C., now Ont., and Catherine Hume B., grandd. Wm. Hume of Humewood, M.P. for Wicklow in the Brit. House of Commons, and grands. Rev. Dominick Edward B. (of the family of B. of Castlegrove, Galway), in his lifetime rector of Kiltegan and of Lough Brickland, and R. D.; b. present village of Cairngorm, Ont., Oct. 13, 1833; e. U. C. Coll. (Gov.-Genl.'s prizeman), and Univ. of Toronto (B.A., and silver med. in classics, 1854; M.A., 1858; LL.D., 1889; barrister, 1856; successfully practised in Toronto, principally in partnership with his bro., Hon. S. H. B. (q.v.), being head of his firm and long one of the leaders of the Can. bar; retired from the firm, 1901; K.C. (Viscount Monck), 1864; a bencher of the Law Soc., U.C., 1871; treas. of do., 1879; was for a time one of the examiners in, and a lecturer on, equity law for the Law Soc.; apptd. an hon. mem. of the law faculty, Toronto Univ., 1888; declined appt. as chancellor of U.C., under the govt. of Sir John Macdonald, 1869; as chief justice of Can., under the govt. of Mr. Mackenzie, 1875; and as chief justice of Ont., under that of Sir W. Laurier, 1897; appeared frequently before the Jl. Comte. of the P.C. in Eng., his services being retained in many cases taken there from the Dom.; was chief counsel for the appellants in the Man. Sch. case before that tribunal, 1895; was chief counsel for the Dom. in the dispute between the Provinces and the Dom. over the reduction in the representation of the old Provinces, except Quebec, after the previous census, 1904; was also the chief counsel in the Alaska Boundary case, but had to throw up his brief on account of sudden illness; his political career began in 1867, the epoch of Confederation; early espoused the Lib. cause, and was often importuned to enter Parlt.; in the year mentioned was elected both to the Ho. of Commons and the Legislature; was immediately offered the leadership of his party in the latter body, but it was not till 1869 that he consented to accept that position; on the defeat of the Sandfield Macdonald govt., Dec., 1871 (an event largely due to his efforts), was called upon to form a new Admn., and succeeded in the task; he himself took the office of Presdt. of the Council without salary; on the abolishment of dual representation, some time later, resigned the Premiership with the view of devoting the whole of his attention to Federal politics; in the H.C. he was urged to accept the leadership, but declined the honour; was, nevertheless, one of the greatest champions in the well-remembered contest over the Pacific Scandal, which resulted in the downfall of Sir John A. Macdonald; when Mr. Mackenzie became Prime Minister of Can., accepted a position in his cabinet, without office; was sworn of the Privy Council, Nov. 7, 1873; in Feb., 1874, resigned owing to ill-health; in May, 1875, accepted office as Minr. of Justice, and while such undertook an official mission to Eng., touching amendments to the law of extradition, etc.; was mainly instrumental in perfecting the constitution of the Supreme Ct. of Can. at its establishment, and personally selected the judges first apptd. thereto; after the defeat of the Mackenzie Govt. at the polls, 1878, was chosen leader of the Lib. party in the H.C., in place of the ex-Premier, whose health had become impaired by his arduous official labours; remained in that position until after the g.e. of 1887, when he retired and was succeeded by Mr. (now Sir W.) Laurier; subsequent to that event took no prominent part either in the debates in the House, or in the general work of his party; at the g.e., 1890, declined renomination, and sent to his constituents in West Durham a letter expressing his views of the condition and prospects of the country; this letter was believed to be of the greatest importance, but it was not published until after the elections; when the letter was made public it created a genuine sensation, for it not only announced the great leader's retirement from political life, but expressed the gravest forebodings concerning the future of Can.; "The splendid oratory and brilliant genius of Mr. B.," says Mr. Adams (q.v.), from whose work of biography we have taken some of the facts herein, "were keenly missed in Parlt., and many were the hopes expressed that he would reconsider his determination, and return to his rightful place as leader of his party"; in June, 1892, these hopes were dispelled by his acceptance of an invitation extended to him by the leaders of the Irish parliamentary party to accept a seat in the Brit. H.C.; he landed in Irel. a few weeks previous to the election of 1892, and was received with great cordiality; he stood for the constituency of South Longford and was returned by a very large majority; his advent into Imp. politics was made under the most auspicious circumstances, and fully justified the fondest hopes of his friends; he continued to sit for South Longford while he remained a mem. of the Brit. Parlt., and did much to popularize the Irish cause throughout the Empire; was presented to Queen Victoria, Buckingham Palace, July, 1882, and again, subsequently; in 1894 he was elected a mem. of the Extve. Comte. of the Irish Parliamentary party; in the same year he was included in the Royal Comn., apptd. to enquire into the financial relations between Gt. Brit. and Irel.; this Comte. reported that Irel. was bearing an unfair share of taxation, and in 1897 he was selected to move an amendment to the address in reply to the Queen's speech on the subject; later, he moved a substantive resolution thereon; in 1895 he went to New Zealand, to serve as arbitrator between the New Zealand Govt. and the New Zealand Midland Ry. Co., and made his award in Dec., wholly in favour of the Govt.; in 1896 he was one of the comte. of 15 of the H.C. appointed to investigate South African affairs and the causes of the Transvaal raid; his cross-examination of Cecil Rhodes has been spoken of as "a masterly piece of work"; he was very successful in obtaining funds for carrying on the work of the Irish Parliamentary party, and contributed himself largely thereto; to the election fund of the McCarthyite wing of the Nationalist party, 1895, his subscription was £1,000; was arbitrator for Nfd. in the Reid-Nfd. Govt. case, 1904-5; in the same year was elected chairman of Comtes. (H.C.); was the first (and for 14 yrs. continuously) presdt. of the Toronto Genl. Trusts Co.; on his resignation of the office, 1896, the other directors of the Co. presented the Ont. Legislature with his portrait in oils, "to mark their esteem for him and their appreciation of his services in some lasting way"; throughout his career, his interest in education—and especially higher education—has been most marked; he was elected Chancellor of the Univ. of Toronto, 1873; in 1888 he gave $2,500 to found scholarships in political science in that institution, and in 1891 he agreed to give $20,000 as a fund towards endowing junior matriculation scholarships therein; after the destruction of the buildings of the Univ. by fire, 1890, he gave largely to the rebuilding fund, and did much otherwise to assist in the work of restoration; he declined a K. C. M. G., for his public services, 1876; was a del. to the 3rd Commercial Congress, London, 1893, at a dinner given in his honour in Toronto, Feb., 1894, he called himself an "Irishman, and an Imperialist, not in a jingo sense, but an Imperialist in the fullest sense of the word, and with the belief that the destiny of the Brit. Empire is to occupy the foremost position as a civilizer and Christianizer throughout the whole world"; continuing, he said, "he looked forward to the granting of Home Rule to Irel. in the near future, and thereafter to seeing systems of local govt. established in all the great historical and natural divisions of Gt. Brit. with one Federal Parlt. in control"; his portrait, painted by Grier (q.v.), was exhibited at the Royal Acad., London, 1895; an Ang. of evangel. leanings; owing to continued ill-health he retired from the Imp. Parlt. and from all participation in political affairs, 1907.—"Homewood," Toronto; "Maison Rouge," Murray Bay, P.Q.; National Liberal Club, London, Eng.

"No poet, with the exception of Tennyson and Browning, has, during the latter half of this century, covered so wide a field and yet risen so high in each department, in sustained flight of song, as has this young writer. In subtle and weird imagination he has been likened to Poe; in lyrical flight and spontaneity, to Shelley; in depth and breadth, to Shakespeare and Browning; and, for intense personality he is considered unique among the younger writers of the day. In his poems is felt the presence of a strong personality, intensely interested in the perplexing problems of human existence. Even in his 'nature' verse, beneath all its pure music, there runs a deep undertone of haunting, mystical suggestiveness, which naturally links the restless phenomena of nature with the joys and sorrows of the human heart. As a dramatic poet he stands alone, supreme in his generation."—Scottish-American.

C. service, Cork, Irel.; formerly presdt. Commercial Bank of Can., an institution now defunct, and of the Women's Med. Coll., Kingston; V.-P. Trusts Corporation of Ont., and presdt. Frontenac Loan & Invest. Co., etc.; promoted Ont. Electric Co., 1901; sat for Lennox and Addington, Can. Assembly, from 1863 to the Union of the Provinces, 1867; for Lennox (H. C.) from 1867 to 1878, when defeated; for Centre Huron from Nov., 1878 to May, 1882; for South Huron from Dec., 1883 to 1887; for South Oxford from 1887 to 1904; called to the Senate, by Earl Grey, Sept. 30, 1904; belongs to one of the old Tory families of U. C., and in the early days of his public life gave an individual support to the late Sir John A. Macdonald; since the period of the "Pacific Scandal," 1873, has acted with and been a mem. of the Lib. party, first under Mackenzie, then under Blake, and finally under Laurier; during its existence was presdt. of the Ont. Reform Club, Toronto, and later, of the Eastern Ont. Lib. Assn.; was Minr. of Finance, in the Mackenzie Admn., 1873-8, and subsequently, while in opposition, was the chief spokesman for his party, on all fiscal subjects; he developed in debate great powers of oratory, superior to those possessed by all the public men of his time, save only the late Hon. Wm. Macdougall and Sir G. W. Ross (q.v.); his speech in seconding the vote of thanks to the volunteers who had served in the N.-W. Rebellion, 1885, is still regarded as one of the masterpieces of Parliamentary eloquence; more recent speeches from him, both in the Commons and Senate, including that creating the Quebec Battlefields Comn., 1908, have more than sustained his previous high reputation in this respect; created a K.C.M.G., 1879; since July, 1896, has been Minr. of Trade and Commerce in the Laurier Admn.; has been Govt. leader in the Senate since Jan., 1909; now regarded as the last mem., in active public life, of Mackenzie's "Old Guard"; was entertained at a public banquet, by the Ont. Lib. Mems. and Senators of Parlt., May, 1900, at which he was thanked for his services, as the "beacon-light of the Lib. party"; G.C.M.G., 1907; acting Premier, during Sir W. Laurier's absence, 1897, 1902, 1907, and 1911; a del. to Washington, to promote better relations between Can. and the U. S., 1897; proposed a joint Comn., and represented Can. on the Anglo-Am. joint High Comn., Quebec, 1898, and Washington, 1898-99; apptd. a mem. of the Most Hon. P. C., 1902; declined appt. to the Lieut.-Governorship of Ont., 1908, and again subsequently; carried a measure in favour of Old Age Annuities, 1908; has suggested "that Can., with it close acquaintance of conditions, both in the Republic and the Mother Country, and with its new life and vigor reaching out towards both the Old and the New Worlds, could be the medium that would bring about an alliance of the English-speaking peoples of the world which no combination of nations dare treat lightly or whose demands they dare disregard if disposed to urge the disarmament of the world"; author of several pamphlets, including one containing his recollections of the Confederation period; more recently (1911) has lectured on "The Perils of Democracy" (see "Cartwright, a Veteran of many Campaigns; a character sketch," by Sir George Ross, Toronto Globe, June, 1911); Ang.—276 O'Connor St., Ottawa; Rideau Club, do.; "The Maples," Kingston, do.; Quebec Garrison Club, Quebec.

E. s. late Geo. C. and Anne (Leggo) C., Brockville, Ont.; b. there, Jan. 28, 1848: e. Kingston; m., 1870, Annetta Augusta, 4th d. late A. T. McCord, city chamberlain, Toronto; trained to engineering; while still a youth did important work in shipbuilding, and subsequently commanded a propeller on the Can. lakes; removing to S. Cal., 1881, he, with his bro., Wm. Benj. C., founded first the colony of Etiwanda and later that of Ontario, ever since known as the "model colony"; the Chaffey Coll. of Agric. was estabd. and endowed with £20,000 by the bros.; Ontario was founded on such broad-guage lines and considered so complete in every enging. detail that the U. S. Govt. had a model made of the colony, which was exhibited at St. Louis World's Fair, 1902; in 1883, as presdt. of Los Angeles Electric Co., made Los Angeles, Cal., the first municipality in U. S. to be lighted by electricity; in 1886 a royal comn. on irrigation from Australia visited Ontario, which led to Chaffey Bros. proceeding to that country and to the estabt. of the irrrigation colonies of Mildura, in Victoria, and Renmark, in S. Australia, both populous and prosperous communities which have long been recognized as object lessons in irrigation for the Australian Continent; speaking at a public gathering in Mildura, Oct., 1907, the Chief Justice and Acting Govr. of Victoria (Sir John Madden) tendered Messrs. Chaffey, "on behalf of Victoria, sincere and heartfelt thanks for their magnificent conception and achievements"; over a million pounds sterling was expended in this work, and the annual value of exported products may be stated at £350,000; returning to Cal., 1900, assisted by his son Andrew (q.v.), he undertook the most important work of his life: reclaiming a portion of the Colorado Desert, which he named "Imperial Valley," by means of a canal that diverted the waters of the Colorado River, in Cal., passed for 55 miles through Mexican territory, and again returned to Cal.; Imperial Valley is now a county of the State of Cal., has 5 flourishing towns, a population of 20,000 and is the capital of the 300,000 acres under the irrigation system which 8 yrs. ago was worthless desert land, and which now may be conservatively valued at 25 millions sterling; is presdt. of 1st Nat. Dr. Crichton's Remedy generally cures La Grippe (Influenza) or "colds" in a few hours, often in less than two hours. When other proper treatment is used along with it, it generally cures Pneumonia, Tonsillitis (Quinsy), Inflammatory Rheumatism, etc., in less than one-quarter of the usual time, Typhoid Fever in less than one-half of the usual time. It is harmless in the dose required, and any other medicine may be taken along with it.

"GRIPPURA"

Three of the Professors in Toronto University use it. James Colling, B.A., Principal of Cobourg (Ont.) Collegiate Institute, writes: "One dose cured me. I gave it to five other teachers and they all declare it broke up the attack of Grippe." Rev. J. C. Berrie, President of Methodist Conference for New Brunswick and P. E. I. (who studied medicine for four years), says: "Grippura has worked just as you say. I consider it worth its weight in gold."

Send for circular containing similar testimonials from J. Henderson, M.A., Principal of St. Catharines Collegiate Institute; Rev. W. Bowman Tucker, M.A., Ph.D., author of "The Camden Colony"; E. A. Hardy, B.A., Secretary of Librarians' Association for the Province of Ontario; Wm. F. Montague, Grand Recorder Canadian Order of Chosen Friends; Carl E. Fisher, County Registrar, St. Catharines, Ont., etc.

The Ontario Divisional High Court decided after a three days' hearing that Grippura is "an apparently valuable remedy," and that "it does not appear to be put forward dishonestly or carelessly."

Sent by mail, postpaid, price 75c. for 24 doses. To places where it is not for sale two such bottles will be sent for $1.00. Persons living in countries other than Canada and the United States should order three bottles (or multiples of three) at a time as postage is paid by the pound.

"A man of sincere and enlightened views, excellent abilities, and who is thoroughly informed upon public questions."—T. News.

"As a writer has gained the highest distinction. Like Keats, he has an instinct for fine words. As Goldwin Smith is in English, so Mr. David, among French-Canadians, is the most exquisite writer of his generation. Perhaps the chief charm of his prose lies in its exceeding clarity, and clearness is the first quality in a French writer. There is no man in Canada today who can better propound a synthesis; that also is a luminous feature of his style. But for elegance and clearness he has among his compatriots achieved a position of unique pre-eminence."—M. Standard.

De Sola, Clarence I., contractor; consular service.

A mem. of an ancient and illustrious Spanish-Jewish family; 3rd s. late Rev. Abraham de S., LL.D., in his lifetime one of the most scholarly exponents of orthodox Judaism in Am.; b. Montreal, Aug. 15, 1858; e. McGill Univ.; m. Belle Maud, B.A., d. Leopold Goldsmith, Cleveland, O.; apptd. Belgian consul at Montreal, 1904, in recognition of his valuable services in promoting commerce between Belgium and Can.; since 1887, has been mang. dir. of the Comptoir Belgo-Canadien, a syndicate of the leading steel manfrs. and structural bridge and ry. contractors of Belgium, and in this capacity has carried out some noteworthy public works, including a share of the Soulanges and Trent canals, the re-tracking of part of the Interc. and P. E. I. Rys., and the building of many public bridges; is also the dir. of the Can. office of Swan, Hunter & Wigham Richardson, Ltd., of Walls-end-on-Tyne; in association with this co., has carried out contracts for the building of a great number of ships for traffic on the Great Lakes, the St. Lawrence and the ocean; has also carried out several contracts for ships for the Can. Govt. service; takes a prominent part in communal affairs (both Jewish and non-sectarian) and is an offr. in a number of philanthropic socs.; has become widely known as one of the chief leaders of the world-embracing Zionist movement for the settlement of the persecuted Jews of Russia and other eastern European countries, in Palestine and the restoration of that country as a home for all oppressed Hebrews; besides being a mem. of the Actions Comte., the supreme governing council of the Zionist movement, has been for many yrs. presdt. of the Federation of Zionist Societies of Can.; has taken a leading part in the Zionist Intern. Congresses; an authority on Jewish history, more especially the early records of the Jews of this country, and on which subject he has written and published a number of articles; is an hon. corres. mem. of the Am. de Sola, Rev. Meldola (Jewish).

E. s. late Rev. A. de S., LL.D., in his lifetime one of the most scholarly exponents of orthodox Judaism in Am.; a bro. Clarence I de S. (q.v.); b. Montreal, May 22, 1853; e. under his father's direction; m., 1887, Katie (formerly V.-P. and treas., local branch Nat. Council of Women of Can.; presdt., local sec. Council of Jewish Women), d. Rev. I. Samuel, senior minr., Bayswater Synagogue, London, Eng.; followed commercial life for a few yrs.; his father's failing health redirected his attention to the work of the ministry, and from 1876 to 1882 he officiated regularly as voluntary lay asst. to the Spanish and Portuguese synagogue, Montreal, the senior Jewish cong. there, and where his father had ministered for a lengthened period; on the latter's death, June, 1882, succeeded him and thus became the first Jewish minr. of Can. birth; he soon became the recognized leader of the orthodox majority of the community, and is now acknowledged to be one of the ablest and most uncompromising opponents of the so-called reform movement in North Am.; in 1885 a number of Am. reform minrs. held a convention at Pittsburg for the purpose of defining the principles of reformed Judaism; his sermon at that time led the ordinary press to denounce the reform platform as "Ingersollism with a vengeance"; has frequently preached in the U.S. and in Eng.; one of his sermons in N.Y. was subsequently published in pamphlet form and its copious notes and references were declared by the Jewish press in Eng. to be a valuable contribution to the history of Jewish reform in Am.; during one of his visits to Eng. was invited by Dr. Adler, chief rabbi of the united congregations of the Brit. Empire, to occupy his pulpit; the sermon then delivered created a most favourable impression; four yrs. later he received the greatest honour of his career, when Dr. Gaster, the erudite chief rabbi of the Sephardic Jews, invited him to preach in London at the Bevis Marks synagogue upon the occasion of the installation of a new minr.; this synagogue is the oldest and largest Jewish place of worship in Eng.; in his lifetime Sir Moses Montefiore acted as its presiding warden for many yrs.; it has been rendered famous by the eminent scholars and great orators who have served in its ministry, and its pulpit has been closed to all but men of the first rank and of proved devotion to the interests of orthodox Judaism; he was the first preacher not connected with the cong. who had been invited to preach at Bevis Marks within 10 yrs., and the circumstance was made the subject of editorial comment by the Jewish press of Eng. and the U.S.; his sermon received the eloquent praise of Dr. Gaster, and the wardens of the historic synagogue had it published in pamphlet form; in 1896, officiated at the laying of the corner-stone of the great Spanish and Portuguese synagogue, N.Y.; a year later offered the special prayer of dedication at the consecration of the building; the occasion was a notable one; the cong. was the oldest Jewish body in the U.S., and all the reform leaders in the dist. were present; undeterred by social amenities, he prayed that the cong. might be shielded from the baneful influences of the reform movement, and in the course of his prayer sternly arraigned the reform leaders; he was furiously attacked by the reform press from the Atlantic to the Pacific, but the authorities of the synagogue stood by him and the orthodox press proved that his statements, merciless as they had been, were incontrovertible truths; a bitter controversy ensued, and he emerged from it the acknowledged leader of the party of aggressive orthodoxy in Am.; it was mainly through his unceasing agitation that the first conf. of the representatives of orthodox Judaism ever held on this continent was convened in N.Y., 1898; the object of the convention was to neutralize the influence of the reform conferences; he was unanimously elected first V.-P., and was one of the 3 rabbis who drew up the declaration of principles governing the convention; at the public session of the conf. he made an impassioned appeal to the immense audience to remain true to its ancestral religion, and received a perfect ovation upon the conclusion of his address; one result of the conf. was the formation of the Union of Orthodox (Jewish) Congs. of the U.S. and Can.; is now first V.-P. of the Union and chairman of the comte. on Presentations of Judaism; in the latter capacity he recently issued the manifesto of the Union denouncing the reform rabbis for discussing the advisability of transferring the Jewish Sabbath to the first day of the week; is an ardent supporter of the Zionist movement, which seeks to secure for Jewish victims of religious persecution "a publicly, legally assured home" in Palestine; one of his published sermons upon Zionism elicited warm expressions of approval from Dr. Herzl, Max Nordau, Sir Francis Montefiore, and other leaders of the movement; has often been subjected to bitter attack, both in the U.S. and in Eng., but seems quite indifferent to his assailants; having a cause to plead, he pleads it apparently without fear or favor; he has received several calls to positions that would be more remunerative to him, but he has so far steadfastly refused to leave his father's old cong.; while he assumed his present position for the purpose of protecting the cong. against the inroads of radicalism, his pulpit work has been by no means confined to this one line of duty, and many of his sermons upon other subjects have been given to the public in separate form; nor have his synagogue labours been limited to the pulpit; an accomplished musician, he has instructed the cong. choir for more than a quarter of a century, and, under his guidance, the numerous responses are sung by the cong. and choir with impressive effect. —338 Sherbrooke St., Montreal; summer residence: St. Patricks, P.Q.
